Its looks like the weather calls for rain today-weds down there. I will speak to Josephine again today and see what she says. I don't wanna email JE with out a final answer.

Her gave me the day off tmrw.

My plans for this week so far are to start work on the garden on the roof of 71st and cooking class number 2 on weds. Also Steve Hanson will set up a trip to the fish market for us this week as well.

I'm going to attempt to get Josephine to agree to start close to this coming weekend.

Francis

just checking in...did you touch base with JE about the island and if it has rained, will rain, snow...whatever!

ha! Just want to make sure you aren't hit on the side of the head with something weird again!
