Oh [REDACTED], the pics were an exaggeration. I feel so bad that my angel is paying so much for this. So I am sprucing it with my perfume and will get flowers and candles in the morning. Miss nyc so so much already and hoping I adapt, in order to do some magic to bring me back!!

Dear Leo,

Karyna told me you will be cleaning [REDACTED] tomorrow and I explained to her that I left in a frenzied state as I completely underestimated the size of this move.

So just wanted to send a few notes and thank you in advance.

Bedroom -

Anything lying around like socks or small items of clothing please throw.

Hairdryer, any other hair or other appliances please also throw.

Can you please also look on the floor before vacuuming just in case there is any jewellery.

Bathroom -

Throw anything there.

I bought new light bulbs for all the lights but did not get a chance to clean. The bathroom is clean though and cleaned the shower, shower door and walls after I used it.

Mirrored closet in hallway-

There are some folded up boxes, bubble wrap and packing material in there if you want to take to 71st.

There is some light machine on the top shelf that can be thrown.

There are about 8 light wood frames in there that Karyna should look at. He gave them to me once out of the art room at 71st.

Small closet in hallway -

There is toilet paper, paper towel, washing fluid.

Any other bits and pieces please throw away.

Living Room

There are 5 boxes, my desktop computer (with keyboard , mouse and cords) and two Ralph Lauren clothing covers in navy blue that I need to keep!! I will send you a photo of them. Mr Epstein has said that I can store these in the basement at 71st street. If you can be careful with them as they still need to be properly sealed, and everything inside is valuable or fragile, except one which is books and documents. I think they need to be lifted from underneath as they contain glass things and could be heavy and I don't want them to fall through.

There is another box and a bag next to the sofa by the sofa side table which I was keeping for [REDACTED] This you can sadly throw because she didn't manage to take it all. All else you can throw unless you find anything that looks very valuable.

But books, one candle, magazine or papers if you see can be thrown.

Kitchen -

Please throw everything. Food in fridge, tea in cupboard, anything else in cupboard. I think karyna will want to throw everything. There is one blue hermes cup and saucer that I would love if you could keep for me and put in one box.

I'm sorry, I know this is long, but I really fell short of time. I should have hired a professional moving company. I just did not manage well on my own.

I will send the list of everything that is in the boxes to you [REDACTED] and karyna.

Thank you Leo!!!! I really really appreciate this!!
