Paul set up service for TV-internet when we rented the house & planned to open a high-end aftercare sober facility. When we decided we were selling the house & did not need the TV-internet we cancelled Comcast. They required that I meet the field rep at the house so they could recover the cable boxes. They also required payment of the outstanding balance in full via credit care at the house at the time of the removal of equipment. I used my personal credit card and was reimbursed by Paul. I have the receipt from Comcast showing my credit card payment to close the account. I can scan & email it to you if you need it.

The $10,000 to me happened this way: Paul told me to deposit money in the account & I put in the $20,000 he said. Then Paul said we only needed $10,000 in the account and he wanted to borrow the other $10,000 against his interest in the house. I told him to write himself a check, but he reimbursed me & I gave him a check for $10,000. It is part of the $40,000 I loaned Paul. It was accounted for in my earlier listings of deposits. If it got left off the last list it needs to be deducted from my total contributions.
