Projects We Love

Manual Coffeemaker No1

Manual Coffeemaker No1

By Craighton Berman

Should daily coffee be a routine or a ritual? The creators of the Manual Coffeemaker No1, a beautiful pour-over system, would argue for the latter. Each method of making coffee affects the flavor of the brew, and this low-tech approach allows you to control all the variables. Also, it looks really pretty on a counter.

ScratchJr: Coding for Young Kids

ScratchJr: Coding for Young Kids

By Mitchel Resnick

Learning code is like breaking an inaccessible cipher: suddenly there's a new world of information in your reach. ScratchJr, a tool that teaches programming to young children, takes code and makes it familiar to kids. And it's good for a lot more than games: it builds a skill set for the future.

ST. FRANCIS IN ROME - THE RESTORATION

ST. FRANCIS IN ROME - THE RESTORATION

By Raffaello Siniscalco

When St. Francis visited Rome in the 13th century to meet the Pope, he stayed in a small room in a monastery. Eight centuries later, that room is in need of work. This project will restore the space, conserve its works of art, and open it up to the public for free. Can people come together to preserve history? We think so!

The most backed project of all time.
Veronica Mars. Now on iTunes.
