Hi Mr .Khan,

I do apologize for misunderstanding maybe ,It really confuses us the days off , We should have discuss it to you and this is not a complain just want to clarify where we stand , as per as our conversation last time when we had our meeting at your office , when Mr. Epstein is around it's understood that we have to work straight until He is going away and that's the time we are taking our time off, it is supposed to be a simple set up & understanding , we clearly understand that . Perhaps, It may not be going to happen but what if he stays 3 or 4 weeks straight , when do we take our 2 days off then? We get used to work long hours & days , but we do always gets 2 days off each week . and also who is who is in charge of scheduling of our time off , we don't even know who to ask .

We are really daze and confuse of who is in charge , their is a lot of people that makes more complicated , this household is really simple and easy to ran, but too many people are in charge, it's mind blowing really. We are not trying to take over who ever runs the house, but we are trying to blend in and understand what's going on. The routine is not complicated , the staff has to understand their proper function and designation. Which am sure they have no idea.
