Hi.. tried a few times on skype.. here for another 30 min before getting on plane.. will be back in portland tomorrow by noon.. and we can talk after that...

I should add that we can also choose to run this independently of ASU if necessary, but that will take a little time, and need to incorporate as separate 501c3.. plus I would probably need to get half salary at least from the new entity..

anyway, look forward to talking.

This was prepared by my development director and I have tweaked it down already.. it is probably still a bit puffed up.. but that could be made up by additional staff if we have some other locales we run workshops in.

5 years would be about $7.5M based on this.
