Ha! you are now learning why if universities were businesses they would be bankrupt. The notion of doing anything on an expeditious timescale is foreign. Waiting on the provost. (I understand the question because there are days my anxiety level is high because I keep waiting.. yesterday was such a day. Happily today isn't).

And the other thing about universities to note is the only intelligent thing Henry Kissinger ever said: Academic disputes are so vicious because the stakes are so low".
