I don't remember that being in the plane and pilot article, but that thought makes perfect sense now knowing the backround of her employer. IMHO, no one in their right mind would hire someone with so little time and experience, to fly a Gulfstream UNLESS there were ulterior motives. Considering the guy who owns the jet, who's to say that wasn't his modus operandi all along...Poor girl may have gotten fooled into believing her "steller" abilities and "networking skills" got her that job, now we know that MAY have not been the case.

Essentially [REDACTED] aka "Gulfstream Girl" is pulling a modern-day "Catch Me If You Can" masquerade. She is posing as a pilot while she is really the ringleader for Jeffrey Epstein's underage prostitution ring. He bought her the ratings and provided the job on his Gulfstream, which is not available for tracking on FlightAware. Her looks and interesting story prevent the press or authorities from digging any deeper. Nobody questions it. It's a safe cover-up for his more nefarious motives.

When Epstein is finished settling his 17+ out-of-court settlements and any jail time he accrues, she will undoubtedly have fantastic foxes lined up out the door for him 😊

By the way, anyone else notice her pre-flight? Nobody touches all those dirty spots on the airplane. Or leaves their hands on the thrust levers for the entire takeoff roll and initial climb-out. You can still see them up there on the climb out around 1:03 in the video if you look closely...Epstein really shelled out the cash and pulled the strings to get her typed! [REDACTED]
