Ty was in his glory yesterday. I hope Henry had fun too. I know they will have fun with those pillows!! Seems like a basement activity to me(?).

(Why not since no one lives there!-which sucks..but I guess handy for halloween!). I believe the rasso's will be coming as well. Ike says you guys were probably sticking around your own neighborhood and I totally get that! Plus pat is coming in I assume. Lots of stuff. Y'all are of course welcome to come over as well at any point! We were invited to Charlie Harrison's house also. They Throw a big party for kids and adults so we said we may swing by the after party depending on what time our football game is on sat.
