I agree and think we should go to Sole or South End and then to watch the games at CL. I will most likely cancel that res at Cesco's and get another one in town...let me check with [REDACTED] tomorrow morning..his flight gets in to JFK tonight at 11pm so I won't talk to him before then.

He wants all of us to be able to talk together. But this being sad if pat wants to be home we love your home too and would be totally in for pizza and salad!!! Right now I can't even think about food! Still stuffed from last night!

Poor [REDACTED] he's had a tough couple of days...the good thing about pink eye is once you get the drops it goes away pretty fast I think. I like your dinner idea too in town. [REDACTED] gets home tomorrow from CA so I will ask him what he thinks...we could easily do take out of pizza and salad like we always do or even some other take out if you are sick of the former. Hope tonight is fun...I know you have been trying to catch up with your sister now for a couple of weeks so I am sure it will be nice. Wow, this weather is just crazy...I can't believe it just isn't warming up...and forecast doesn't look great going into the weekend AGAIN! Ugh, whatever are we to do??!!

>>> yes, not a bad option...we were thinking the same thing..or at least thinking basketball for sure [REDACTED] was suggesting Sole for dinner and then we were in walking distance of Chef or Elm with TVs in the bar to watch bb games...lets think on it! Truly just want to hang with y'all really. :) but i hate to make you go to the trouble of making dinner...y'all talk, we'll talk and convene...boys have game on Sunday from 1-4 at [REDACTED]..I wonder why it is so long? I know they are celebrating with food after? but that is long...

I stayed home today cause [REDACTED] woke up and his eye was super suspicious ...sure enough, pink eye...I took him to doctor and got the drops and had them check for strep since we were there...No strep! Yae...but he stayed home again...tomorrow school! I'm excited about the Inn!
