Morning Chris. Hope your son got off to college well. I'm sure it was a mixed bag of emotions!!

I'm sure you have seen the back and forth on the storage fee issue. I was just really surprised to hear our cabinets were in already and that if we don't take them we are charged the $150 a week. I wish we could take them now but we're not ready. ..And When you spend so much on cabinets I really think it would be a mistake to try and just store them in a garage at a construction site. So we will need to keep them with you for the time being. bob our builder says we won't need for like 6 weeks. Oh well. What can I do?

Moving on!

Can you please give me a quote and mock up of laundry room cabinets for me? Did you or your guy take measurements of the laundry room when you were at our house? When it comes to the bathrooms I decided to order from restoration hardware. Just more cost effective and I think they look very nice.

Thanks, [REDACTED]
