I like the Granite Springs B01-482 also...very nice. not too much going on, but yes, a bit more substantial...I agree you should listen to railing boy...let me know what he says. :)

This is the same thing with a double rail. Looks a little more substantial. It has a few dably dos on it but not too much. He is coming buy today and I sent him the plan. Initially he said we may want a different type of balcony over the front door. I am going to let railing boy lead me a little and see what we come up with.
