Your guy for paint grade was about that. So its 3,000 more per door so far. We will widdle it down over the months. I don't want those things in anyway. Wait till the end.

which guy was $4200 all in per a door? the Garage Door Store guy in Peekskill?
is that for stained mahogany?

Very happy about the savings on the alarm system for sure! razor/razor blade theory

Your guy was 4200 all in per door. The guy with the insulated super door was about 7500. The next guy may do better. Right now we are at a 9000 difference. I will get the radius I need and shop. Look you just save 3500 on the alarm. Now we got to get the stereo guys down. It just never cost that much. Not even close.

Ok, so we need to pick a door now, but not order for 4 months...I get it...
If we do stone on top of each door, just an eyebrow over each... how much could that cost? Would it look weird to not do stone anywhere else on the side of the house? Like you said, I'm sure a stucco surround could look very nice also...I think we better get a quote on the doors in paint grade white as well as the stained wood. I have a feeling white will be half the price...

I see the picture with the bracket..it is a nice touch.

I will give them a call. I got what I wanted from the second guy. He has the radius diagram I needed for the framer. Once the floor is poured today. I will have a definite elevation for the doors. I want to frame them in and not get them for 4 months. I want them at the end if I can. They will get ruined from construction. I need the diagram so the framing can be finished and the stucco guy can do his thing. Or do you want that stone ? Questions questions!!

ok, that is crazy...i just looked at what our neighbors the Newmans paid and they paid $3650 per a door plus $425 for the opener...They purchased from Garage Door Store in Peekskill, NY...I found there website...Phone # [REDACTED]
Give them a shout out maybe...or is it because I want them stained and not just painted white?

HI Bob...I am on Ed's Garage Doors website...Can you get a quote from Ed's Doors and whoever else on Garage Door #P108A? Love it...I want the doors stained the same color as our front door (which I think we have decided to let the painter we hire do the front doors and he can do these doors too so they all match)

These doors have the radius top and I want the surrounds to mimic the radius (not like they are installed in this picture with the 90 degree corners)...maybe do the surrounds out of the stone, but just an eyebrow above each door...

<http://www.edsgaragedoors.com/door-styles/carriage>

Pull up the above site then click on Door Styles, then click on Carriage Style. Door #P108A is on page 4 (click on page 4)...it is located on the top row, 4th pic (far right hand side) Click on Pic!

While you are at it, you can ask for a quote on P108C (which is the next picture after P108A...but I like A better than C).

I also like on Town and Country Garage Doors website #SCAT3...we should get a quote on this.

<http://www.townandcountrydoor.com/photogallery/semicustomstockdoors.html>
SCAT3 is located on the bottom row!
