Thank you! I'm actually impressed too haha! Never thought things would turn out like this but i am glad I got myself together and they did. I'll be staying at Hunter and doing the Master of Science in Urban Affairs, its basically a continuation of what I am doing now. The plan is to attend part time since I have been a full time student for 3 years and need to join the real world. I still have the same boyfriend of almost four years (still no wedding bells) and things are good, a bit stressful since we're both looking for full time work but things could be worse :)

I do remember you mentioned you guys were building a house! That is very exciting and definitely extremely stressful! I have heard that it's not an easy task to take on! i'm sure taking on those stresses does take its toll on a person but once It's over he will have a beautiful new house to recover in :) I would love to see a picture of how big Ty has gotten! Aw he was such a sweet little boy!

When I have some time this summer (no classes) I will try and come up-town and maybe we can grab lunch!

Hi [REDACTED] Grad School! wow..really! ?? Where and for what?? I'm impressed! All is good with work and home...nothing really new...well, accept that we are building a house (not sure if I told you that?!) It is very exciting but also becoming very stressful...my husband worries everyday and I wish he didn't, but understand why he does! I think it is making him crazy though...tough to run your business and build a house when the customers just don't roll in like they used to! Weekends are filled with sports and watching Ty is a delight!

You still have the same boyfriend I presume??

Hi Lesley!

How are you? Just wanted to say hi and see how things were going! I was never able to stop by and see you and then a new semester started and things became hectic. Not much new going on with me other than I am set to graduate next month and start grad school in the fall :) I'll be up near Hunter often so I will try again and stop by!

So what's new with you?! How is everyone at the office and Jeffrey? Please tell him I said hello and hope he is doing well!

Oh wow so glad to hear everything is going so well!
Your new office is also near my school so I will still try and stop by some time! let me know the exact address!

I am still interning at the conservancy and I just recently joined a new organization that is just now getting off of its feet called the Tribeca Trust. Trying to beef up my resume and get as much experience and exposure as possible! I think I will look for an actual job though come

January...being a broke 31 year old intern is losing its charm haha

Actually let me know if you guys need any help at the new office! I will only have class an hour and a half 2 days a week next semester!

I am still with my boyfriend Borna, it has been almost 3.5 years! I am getting up there in age Les! I'm 31! He needs to make moves soon :)

Anyway please keep in touch and definitely let me know what days your in the office and I'll stop by! I have breaks on Tues and Thurs for 3 hours from 2-5pm

About to start building a new home in NEw Canaan, CT (stressful!) I'm happy to hear you are almost done with school...are you still working at the nonprofit place? ...and you are young...you don't have to be married yet! Is the boyfriend the same one or do you have a new one? ;)

Our office has moved (THANK GOODNESS) We are now at 51st and Lex in a REAL office building.

A thousand times better than those apartment offices!

I will let Jeffrey know you say hi and were checking in...Miss you too...things are so very different these days...but all is good here too....take care, Les

Hi [REDACTED] miss Just Salad sooo much!
Nothing as good as that up here!
I was thinking about you just the other day wondering how things are...and they sound like they are great!!

Ty is getting big! He is 7 (as of Dec. 16th) Missing both his front teeth (so cute) and in 1st grade. ...doing well too! We had a parent/teacher conference and she said he is a really good kid, works hard,

doing well with his reading and writing and is popular on the play ground ;) Makes a mommy happy.

Ike's business is going well...they just opened up a division in London!...and they have a guy who works overnight
and trades Asia
stocks...crazy!

Is this a new boyfriend or the one you had while with us??

I will pass on the info to Jeffrey for you. :)
