Ty would live to come swim tomorrow after his camp! G told me this morning. Ty's camp is over at 1:00. He does have soccer .. G will get him to that and Ike will get him to the end of the baseball game. I am out with a very old friend tomorrow night I haven't seen in a long while. He went to graduate school with my ex husband(gosh that sounds so weird for me to even type) I met Mike in 1999! We are having drinks to catch up. (You know I don't talk about Being married before with Ty and most pp.)

I told G about thurs and she will pick up her mom and Henry and bring them to our house. I hope open house goes well.

When it comes to 13th dinner out, Ike suggested Terry Lodge. I have never been and he says its fabulous. I want to do some investigating today and maybe I'll make us a few reservations so we can decide later. Do reserve the car guy!

Bob is submitting our construction permit paperwork today! I have everything in order for the demo permit and hope to work from home Friday and finish applying for that with the building inspector! Moving along. Now bob just needs to get his CT builders license. He sent in the paperwork and paid and now we just wait. But it sucks cause bank of new Canaan will not approve our construction loan until bob gets his license in hand. Mind you he has a NJ builders license but that is not what they want to see. It will come soon enough I'm sure.

Have a great day! :) [REDACTED]
