BBPW Presents

The September Roundtable: Book Signing with Pulitzer prize nominated author Dr. Marsha Coleman-Adebayo BC '74.

Her just released book, No Fear: A Whistleblower's Triumph Over Corruption and Retaliation at the EPA, recounts her harrowing story as a senior official at EPA. How could she know that the agency with a hippie-like logo would use every racist and sexist trick in their playbook in retaliation? Marsha's experiences including threats to her and her family led to passage of the NO FEAR ACT, the first civil rights law and whistleblower act of the 21st century. Now three million federal employees are required to take No Fear training every two years and every federal government website displays links to information about employee rights from the NO FEAR ACT.

Marsha has been profiled in The Washington Post, Government Executive, TIME Magazine, JET Magazine and Good Housekeeping Magazine, which honored her with the Grand Prize for its Good Housekeeping Award for Women in Government. Don't miss the opportunity to meet Marsha, hear her speak about her book and the importance of social engagement in the intimate setting of a BBPW roundtable.
