Completely agree...stay away from the chiropractor ..Let's think positive...you just need some rest and will be good as new...Jeffrey will now not come back to NY until Sunday night Jan. 29th...

And my doctor said that could be the problem, He order an MRI for me on Friday so he will get back to me after the findings, He said that I have a lot of stress on my neck and spine. I will hold my Chiropractor until I find out the MRI. I just don't want they keep to realign my neck and spine and get it worst.

I've been thinking so much about work, I know that Marlyn and Leo need my help specially the boss is coming tomorrow. My MRI is still on Friday and I can't wait for it. I told Rich and Leo that I'm coming today but wake up with heavy headache still. I apologize if I can't come to work again today. I'm so tired being in bed.
